Building Online Communities

World View
Internet/email

Sue Fidler

Internet, email and mobile use is growing exponentially in the UK and worldwide.

What is an Online Community?

What is a community?

it provides a venue for exchanges between individuals as part of a more or less defined group.

it encourages the sharing of opinion, knowledge and/or information between those individuals.

it elicits or builds on a sense of "belonging" to a group in the individuals who participate.

What is an online community?

Is an Interactive Space:

- Has a distinctive focus
- Integrates content and communication
- Incorporates member-generated content

Help more people get their lives back

Cancer. Just the word can stop you in your tracks. Wherever you are in your life, whatever your plans, cancer can make it feel as though the world has come to a stop.

The good news is that thanks to advances in cancer research we are finally getting to grips with cancer. Today, many people with cancer hear that their chances are good, that they can survive – and get their lives back.

Cancer Research UK is dedicated to funding research into preventing, diagnosing and treating cancer of all kinds. And it's work-

Community building

Management and Moderation

Most important question No.4

How will you manage your online community?

Management

Time and resources

- Who is building the tools – costs
 - in-house/freeware, agency/bespoke
- Who is updating the content – resources
 - staff, volunteers, community leaders

Out of date content is worse than none

Moderation

Time and resources

- How risk averse is your organisation
- How controlling do you need to be
- Who has the time/resources to moderate the user generated content

Self-Moderation or Controlled by you?

Management

Seeding and Promotion

- Seeding – getting the content going
 - staff/volunteers
- Promoting
 - Web, Email, news, peer sites, discussion forum, tell a friend

Empty communities do not attract users

Bringing it all together

Most important questions

Who is your online community?

What are they looking for?

What tools suit the audience and purpose?

How will you manage your online community?

Bringing it all together

- Audience

- who

- Purpose

- why

- Tools

- what

- Management

- how

Final thought

The most important point:

You must have an audience with a subject they want to discuss or share and then provide the tools for them to do it

They need to care enough to join
